UnumProvident Great Reading Room
Glickman Library, Portland Campus

This exciting exhibit will feature photographs from Professor Richard's recent travels in Labrador, Nunavut, and Greenland. Professor Richard, an Adjunct Professor at USM and a recent Mellon Environmental Fellow at Bates College, has received a number of awards for his environmental photography. He has most recently worked for the Smithsonian Institution in the Gulf of St. Lawrence on the "Gateways Project" and in the US National Museum of Natural History exhibit: "Festival of Greenland". For 11 years, he has been associated with the Canada / US cross-border "International Appalachian Trail". His work is on permanent display at Casco Bay Frames in Portland. He holds a PhD in Geography and an MA in Anthropology. He will speak of his work at the following events:
