Libby Barrett

Libby Barrett graduated from Maine College of Art with a BFA in graphic design and has been working in the field for 18 years. During 2005-2006 she took a leave from her job and spent five months at the University of Worcester in England where she was engaged in an independent study making artist’s books. The fourteen books in this exhibit are a result of that project.

In addition to making books, Libby also makes painted floorcloths. Her work has been included in the following exhibitions:
